

Behaviour and the Brain: How to Recognize, Respond, and Support

Join us

Saturday

November 20, 2021

9:00-12:00 pm

Via ZOOM

$20.00

Register online here

Contact:

Lisa McIntosh

lisa.mcintosh@sscs.ca

WORKSHOP EVALUATION

Thank you for completing a short survey of this workshop, it helps us deliver the programs you want to see.

SSCS.CA

Dr. Deborah Bell

Dr. Deborah Bell is a registered psychologist who has specialized in empowering children and parents for more than 20 years. Deborah has extensive training in play therapy and attachment-based approaches, which informs the work she does in both counseling and parent consulting. Deborah is an energetic presenter and presents to parents, teachers, and other professionals across Canada and Internationally.

What you will learn:

This workshop discusses how to recognize what a child's behavior is telling us, while giving us the skills to re-direct behaviour with sensitivity to developmental age and stage. The importance of this approach goes beyond the emotional health of the child, but also has a real and direct impact on the brain and optimizes a child's developmental momentum. This workshop is applicable to both parents and those in caregiver roles.

38024 Fourth Avenue

Squamish, BC

604 892 5796 | community@sscs.ca

